SPRINGFIELD:
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1859.

The General Assembly.

There was no business session of the senate yesterday. The afternoon session was occupied entirely in the discussion of the subject of regular punishment, upon a bill, from the judiciary committee, granting the punishment for homicide. In the house the consideration of bills occupied the greater part of the morning. A resolution was introduced instructing our congressional representatives to urge the passage of grants, by congress, to the states for the establishment of agricultural and industrial colleges. A resolution was also offered instructing the committee on finance to inquire into the expediency of reducing the taxes for state purposes.

The house adjourned, at noon, until this morning.

A Regular Law.

It is a chronic habit of the opponents of the democratic party, after defeat, to raise an outcry about abuses existing under the ballot-box stuffing system. These are newly heard of after the success of the opposition. However may be the abuses existing notoriously under their successful system, the cry with a "reform" appended to it, is wonderful contrast with their misery after defeat. A common panacea for election evils, after each result, is a registry law. It is the grand remedy—the never-failing specific, of the aspirants of opposition parties. Why such laws are ever enacted any where—for the reason that democratic success appears base, while there opponents never propose them when they have the power.

According to established custom with our opponents, Mr. Parks' bill, came forward in the senate, on Tuesday, a registry proposition.

We are astonished that the matter was so long delayed—but a week should have been given to enjoy, before the old balance for opposition wounds, was called for. We can only account for the delay on the fact that during that week, the hope was entertained that "something might turn up"—in the shape of repeal, and supply the place of the registry balance.

We do not know what sort of registry Mr. Parks' committee will give in exchange, but it will prove an unmitigated humbug, producing all the evils which could be compelled to be wiped out by it. A registry act is but to double the form of election—to require voters to spend a day or two, during the time now in minutes give to a set of elected officials the power, if corrupt, to produce just such abuses as they please to charge which, of course, will be to perpetuate the power of their own party. If a registry act is passed, every law which is a check upon illegal voting—is but a complete list of the legal voters of a township or precinct; will be obtained before election—and they, and that none but those whose names are registered, can vote, is only to compel a fraud to be true. But what is there to prevent the purpose-built list of frauds to correspond with the list upon election judges. If a registry system is to effect anything, it must be framed for the purpose, of voters must run through many days or weeks, without that keen watchfulness of the opposite, and of the officials, to detect, that there is over the ballot box, when parties, and friends of candidates, are present, ever ready to maintain their own rights, and to prevent the perpetration of frauds upon them—which is nearly impossible, but which, of course, will be to perpetuate the power of their own party. If a registry system is a regular law which is a check upon illegal voting—but a complete list of the legal voters of a township or precinct, will be obtained before election—and they, and that none but those whose names are registered, can vote, is only to compel a fraud to be true. But what is there to prevent the purpose-built list of frauds to correspond with the list upon election judges. If a registry system is to effect anything, it must be framed for the purpose

TELEGRAPHIC.

WASHINGTON, January 16.

Mr. Phelps, of Mo., made an effectual effort today, to have ensuing session in the house for six weeks, for general speech making. he object being to detain the earlier part of the day to introduction of bills.

Intelligence has just been received from Jefferson City, that the constitutional amendment limiting the Missouri state debt to $20,000,000, will probably not be adopted, but that it may be, than likely that the legislature will grant more than enough to call the railroad, by the further issue of state bonds.

The Democratic caucus held this evening at here, has elected Gen. Shields as the opponent candidate for the senate.

Mr. Allingham, of Wisconsin, has given notice, that he will, at the first session in his power, introduce a bill to abolish the office of first comptroller, and transfer the duties of that office to assistant officer of the treasury.

WASHINGTON, January 11.

The bill introduced by Mr. Sibley, which was notable from the gallery, was for an appropriation to facilitate the acquisition of Cuba by purchase. The bill says that whereas Cuba geographically possesses the largest and annually increasing trade, foreign and coastwise, of the Mississippi valley, and whereas the island, in consequence of political conditions, must remain a source of injury and annoyance, endangering the friendly relations between Spain and the United States, by the aggressions of the feral settlements upon American property, and the necessity for which lately reduces can only be had by a resort to measures of force, and whereas, in the opinion of congress, and in accordance with the policy of this government as to its best means of peaceably existing and home by future difficulties, it is expedient that negotiations for the purchase of the island should be resorted to, &c., then be it enacted, &c., that $10,000,000 be appropriated to be placed in hands for negotiations, either from cash in the treasury or to be borrowed on long term bonds, bearing 6 per cent interest, as the president may deem best.

Hence—Mr. Pillo, of Ohio, who's failed to obtain leave to offer a joint resolution, declaring that no new state ought to come into the union until it has been ascertained by the census that it has a population sufficient to entitle it to one of the house, according to the federal ratio. The house, according to the census reported at the last session, from the committee on foreign affairs, disapproving the act of commodore Paulding, in the seizure of Mariner and his followers, but the senate, in the view of the president in an accommodation with the president, the committee took no action necessary. Several amendments thereto pending, one preserving the thanks of congress to commodore Paulding and his officers; a second to deny Paulding's act, being without the authority of the law, meets with the condemnation of the house, and a third, asserting the right of the citizens to expatriate themselves to help their countrymen in struggling for freedom—a right unconstitutionally denied them. Mr. Ford is reported to be by the house subject on the table. Negatived, by 82, to 80.

NEW YORK, January 11.

The thermometer in Wall street this morning stood at zero, and at 8 o'clock, the same point as at which it stood at the same hour yesterday. The streets are full of floating ice, and navigation is somewhat impeded. The driver of one of the Brooklyn omnibuses was frozen to death on his box while driving up town. A driver on one of the Jersey stages became helpless from the cold, and fell from his box while the vehicle was in motion. A driver of one of the city railroad cars became frozen to sadly that he had to be removed. Many persons have been badly frozen, and the cold and their trades badly frozen. There is a prospect that the rivers will be closed, either by another cold night.

Mr. Washington correspondence.—The friends of the Pennsylvania tariff bill are confident of having a majority of 8 in their favor.

There are intimations of an intention to recommend the Panama railroad bill, with all proposed subsidiaries and amendments, to a select committee, thereby dropping of the matter till the next congress. It is understood that senator Wilmot will speak on the subject to-morrow, and that he will discuss the practicability of the entrance southern coals, and express the partiality shown that route by land and private administration, as shown in the proposition of the various railroad survey reports.

The committee on foreign affairs meet to-morrow, (Thursday,) to consider Mr. Benton's proposition to put $40,000,000 at the disposal of the president for the purchase of Cuba. It is said they no inclined to report favorably.

....The number of deaths in Boston in 1846, was about 2,000—a decrease of 200.

....Mrs. Rebecca Cutright died in Upshur county, Va., on the 6th ult., at the extraordinary age of one hundred and six years.

....The Washington correspondent of the Pennsylvania says that Colonia, the name of the new territory, comes from Christopher Colon, or Columbus.

....The number of deaths in Philadelphia for the year 1846, was 10,302, showing a decrease of forty-eight less the mortality of the previous year.

....The New Haven Journal is requested to say, that a statement made in the Hartford Press, and copied in other papers, respecting the will of the Hon. H. L. Ellsworth, is premature. The will has not been "approved," or offered for probate. It has however long been made to Yale College.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR!

PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD.

COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS.

Dropsy of the best properties and have medicines now before the public, that are so much vaunted as a cure for all the ills of mankind. They are not to be relied on. Before I had made a discovery, acting first on the liver to purify its morbid secretions, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accumulating here, purpose of the system, and then on the blood to purify it, and thus remove disease from the system. It attacks the malady in the same way that it purges it, and when taken only in small doses, will operate mild and will be very little annoyed by it.

The Liver is one of the largest organs in the body, and when healthy, and when it is not, it is the cause of more than one-half of the diseases that afflict mankind. When this organ is fully developed, the stomach and bowels will be found in a healthy condition. The Liver has the largest blood vessels of any organ in the body, and when it is not in a healthy condition it furnishes bad blood. The bowels are supplied from the Liver, and when it is not in a healthy condition it furnishes a bilious fluid, which, instead of passing off with the feces, is absorbed by the lacteals, and carried into the blood, thus rendering it impure.

Only one dose taken each night will be sufficient to relieve the most costive habit.

One dose taken after each meal, will, in a few days, restore the most dyspeptic stomach to a healthy condition.

One dose taken for breakfast each morning will cure the worst form of Sick Headache.

One or two doses are sufficient to break up a cold, and one dose will relieve the most violent attack of Bilious Colic.

Directions in each box.

Price 25 cents per box.

Be sure to inquire for the LIVER INVIGORATOR, and take no other.
